MONROE

[By Gazette Correspondent.]
Monroe, May 18.—With a new born daughter at the Deaconess hospital, five young children in charge of neighbors, and the body of his wife at the Shriner undertaking parlors, James Benson was arrested by Sheriff Mitchell on a charge of child abandonment. Benson, who, it is said, had trouble with his wife, left Monroe several weeks ago. In Justice Saucerman's court, where he answered to the charge, he stated that since leaving his wife he had sent her money from time to time to care for the children. For some time the children have been ill with measles. Mrs. Benson was taken to the hospital, where her sixth child, a daughter, was born. This morning the mother died. She is said to have contracted the measles and pneumonia set in. Benson was released on $800 bail. His case will come up May 21. The county court is endeavoring to secure admission to the home for the feeble minded of the oldest Benson child, a girl of 12.

CHANDLER SIX

Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

Why The Chandler Holds Its Leadership

THE Chandler car has attained and held its place of leadership among all sixes, by steadfast pursuance of worthy policies.

There is but one Chandler car, one Chandler chassis. To that chassis, for seven years, have been devoted the ambitions and the engineering ability and the sincere purposes of its builders.

Featuring this sturdy chassis is the famous Chandler motor, brought to a plane approximating perfection through these years of refinement and development.

Nearly eighty thousand Chandler owners know the excellence of this motor. They know its power, and the flexibility of its power. They know its endurance. They know its economy. They know it affords all the speed that any responsible driver would ever wish or dare to use. They know that on mountain roads it leads the way up.

On this one chassis are six handsome and comfortable types of body, built by America's best body-builders and splendidly finished and cushioned.

FT. SHERIDAN NINE
HERE ON WEEK-END

Soldier Team Composed of Former Major and Minor Leaguers—War Veterans.

Another week-end of fast baseball looks up for the fans of Janesville. On Saturday and Sunday the Samsones face the soldier-nine of Fort Sheridan.

Composed of overseas veterans who not only made a good name in the army while over across, the team has among its members a number of former major and minor league players in keeping with the class of clubs that have been appearing here so far this season.

The games of the last week-end with the McCoy-Nolans of Milwaukee served to strengthen the local club in several departments. The wonderful comeback of Sunday when Samson turned the trick and won out 9-2 after the 11-9 defeat of Saturday shows the reserve power of the factory aggregation.

Good weather is needed more than anything now to aid the Janesville team. The raw atmosphere of last Saturday and Sunday was hard on the players and made work in the field a difficult proposition.

BROTHER HOOKS
BODY OF BROTHER

"I've Got a Big One." Proved no Fish But Dead Relative Who Had Fallen in Creek.

Berlin, Wis., May 19.—One of the strangest and most unusual cases of drowning ever recorded took place Sunday, when Paul Rodencl, 22 years of age and son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rodencl, town of Poy Sippi, met his death while fishing in Willow Creek, Waushara county.

The young man, who was in the employ of his uncle, Charles Krause, town of Poy Sippi, started on a fishing trip Sunday morning to be gone the entire day. No one was with him, and his parents, who also reside in the town of Poy Sippi, did not know that he had gone.

Family Goes Fishing

In the afternoon, Charles Rodencl, Paul's father, also an uncle, Con Rodencl, and two of the young man's brothers, Martin and Robert, decided to go fishing and went to Willow Creek in quest of the funny beauties. After they had been enjoying the sport for about an hour and a half and were near the old Durfee ranch, where the creek is quite deep, Martin, one of the sons, threw his line into the water and as it was carried down stream with the current the hook caught into something heavy and the young man called out, "I've got a big one."

Dead Body of Brother

As he began to draw in his line the object which had been hooked seemed to come toward him and he continued to draw it in until finally the object was drawn to the surface of the water and the young man cried out, "why it's a man." The others in the party hurried up and assisted the angler in unhooking the drowned man and discovered with a shock that it was none other than the brother, son and nephew, Paul Rodencl. The discovery of the body was, of course, a double shock, because of the brother's having gone fishing, and they were therefore unsuspicious. It was a dreadful shock.

No Witnesses

There was no witness to the drowning of Paul Rodencl, and it is merely supposition that the young man lost his footing, fell into the deep water and met his death by drowning, alone and without anyone to give him assistance. It is indeed a most peculiar incident as well as a deeply sad one. For one brother to meet his death while alone fishing and later his body to be discovered and found by another brother, who did not even know that the other was anywhere near, is one of the strangest occurrences we have ever heard of.

Hook Was Caught

One theory as to the circumstances surrounding the drowning was advanced by the brother and father is that they found the fishline of the drowned man snagged onto a log, and it is supposed that the boy endeavored to get it loose, following up the line and lost his balance. The arms of the boy were folded across his chest when found, his body rather limp, and it is thought he had been in the water for perhaps two or three hours.

CHICAGO IS EATING

Edgerton News

(By Gazette Correspondent)

Edgerton, May 19.—A party of 15 men from Janesville, led by Jess Hart played off the deciding game of Cribbage that decided the championship of the club at the Carlton hotel last evening. After the game a dinner was served and several hours spent in a social time.

At an adjourned regular meeting of the city council held last evening a contract was let for an Electric Pump to be installed at the pumping station at once. This move was made necessary by the increased cost of the up keep of the steam plant which has to a certain extent lost its efficiency. It has been found that a new boiler was needed at once and to relieve this expense the new system will be inaugurated.

The marriage of Miss M. Ford and Will Doty was solemnized at St. Joseph's church yesterday morning by Father Marlan. Mrs. Doty was a resident of the town of Porter and Mr. Doty has held a responsible position with one of the largest tobacco firms in this city for several years.

The interests that control the Highway Trailer and its other forms of business have purchased what is known as the Head property in the west of the city on the Stoughton road. This property comprises a tract of several acres and embraces all the land bounded by the R. R., Stoughton Road, and the Driving Park.

A carload of machinery consigned to the Continental Axle Co. has been received here and excites some interest as one piece of the machinery weighs upwards of 20 tons.

James Conway, who was appointed as a member of the park commission failed to qualify, and J. O. Arthur has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

Hurley Ford met with a painful accident yesterday suffering a cut on the wrist. Mr. Ford was handling a heavy cart of tobacco and slipping ran his arm thro a window.

A shower in honor of Miss Emma Wiesen was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shultz last evening. About 60 guests were present. Miss Wiesen is soon to be married to Theo. Behlek, La Crosse.

WIDE SEARCH IS MADE FOR FRIENDS

Relatives of Soldier Who Died at Hospital from 40 Foot Fall Are Hunted.

Hopes were held out at the police station today that relatives of Earl W. Ballard, deceased, ex-soldier, would be located within the next 24 hours despite discouraging results of efforts last night to gain trace of them. The body of Ballard, who died from injuries after a fall of 40 feet from the Samson foundry, lies at a local morgue.

A telegram by the Red Cross to the adjutant general at Washington last night brought back the reply that Ballard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ballard, live at Long Mont, Colo., near Denver where the youth enlisted nearly three years ago. The address was obtained from army records.

Previous to receipt of this information, police had telegraphed Cripple Creek, Colo., the youth's birthplace, getting the following answer: "Unable to locate any relatives Earl Ballard here."

Today police received word their telegram addressed to Ballard's father at Long Mont could not be located in that city, officials stated.

As a last means of getting in touch with the parents, Chief Morris sent today word to the chief of police in Long Mont asking him to exert every effort to secure information about the young man's parents. He was expressed that the reason the first telegram was not delivered was because they lived on a farm near that city.

It was stated at the Red Cross office today that young Ballard's employers will pay for his burial in case attempts to locate relatives fail. He was working as a glass carrier at the time of his death.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Warsaw, May 18.—Arrangements have been completed for the transportation of 2,000 persons weekly from Poland to the United States by the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society, which recently opened offices in Warsaw. The Polish authorities estimate that a quarter of a million Jews have been waiting for passports, about 80 percent of these being women and children. The first shipload of 800 immigrants left Danzig two weeks ago.

The American consulate here has created a special department to take care of the Jews, which is in connection with this movement. These now are averaging some 1,500 per day. The applicants are virtually camping out on the spot, sleeping in the line and waiting sometimes several days to obtain the visas entitling them to go to the promised land.

St. Paul Road Exempted From Using Joint Tracks

Oshkosh, May 19.—The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad has been eliminated from the petition of the city of Oshkosh to have the railroad use joint tracks and a joint passenger station here. This leaves the case to concern only the Northwestern depot here on both Chicago and Milwaukee roads. The city of Oshkosh, which has a receipt given to the owner. Upon arrival at the National Woolen Warehouse, Chicago, it will again be weighed and then graded, and receipt forwarded to the owner.

REPUBLICANS WHIP PLATFORM INTO SHAPE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, May 19.—Revision of platform suggestions by the republican committee of 171 was continued here today by a group of party chiefs including the National Chairman William H. Hays, and republican leaders in congress.

The report does not touch on some of the issues which are expected to be foremost in the platform and the party leaders expected to continue all of this week conferences over contested planks. Liquor, the league of nations, and Mexico, are among the subjects omitted from the committee report and left out of consideration for the present by the conference of leaders.

Pastor Injured When Auto Hits Interurban

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Oshkosh, May 19.—As the result of his automobile being struck by an interurban car at a street crossing here, Rev. Walter J. Patton, pastor of the First Methodist church, is at a local hospital with a fractured collarbone and several scalp wounds. The auto was pushed about 120 feet and was wrecked. While Mr. Patton's injuries are serious, there is nothing so far to indicate that he will not recover. Slippery rails prevented the interurban from stopping quickly, the motorman claimed.

CEMENT SHORTAGE MAY STOP WORK ON ROAD TO EDGERTON

Work on the Janesville-Edgerton concrete road may have to be dropped because of shortage of cement, according to an announcement made today. The freight tieup and railroad conditions generally throughout the country have so affected shipments that factories cannot fill their orders. Some plants have shut down temporarily because their warehouses are filled to capacity, while others are operating only until they fill their storage places.

Rock county was allotted 27,000 barrels of cement for its work on the Janesville-Edgerton route, but none of this has been delivered. From present indications none will be received until August. While grading will be continued it may have to be postponed. In such event, the county road gangs will be used to grade dirt roads.

Work on the Janesville-Beloit road on the outskirts of the city is progressing, however. It is believed there is sufficient cement on hand to Good Eating Potatoes, pk. $1.35

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My husband and I have moved into a new home in a pretty town and have moved in with us for the winter. They intend to build soon and will be with us until June. I think I can't get along. My mother-in-law and I have never got along, but I made up my mind when she came into my home to do all in my power to get along and get along. I gave her the best room in the house and do all the washings and ironings for her. She has what I call "peevish spells" some times I would talk to her and she would not answer me, and after I would leave the room, I could hear her mumbling to herself, sometimes I would ask her what she was saying and she would curl up her nose and not answer.

One day she was real cross with my little girl and snapped her off. The child began to cry and I looked at her and laughed and tried to keep her from crying and mother stepped back to me and said, "You take the cake," and rolled up her lip and walked away from her clothes one day and she came down saying, "What did you iron my clothes for? I had always done it before and told her to do it. She began jerking the ironed things off the line and throwing them across her arm. I stood and watched her. She was so angry that I had to have big meals in the evening, and about washing so many dishes, she follows me in the basement and upstairs, nagging at me and trying to pick a fuss. She says, "I am going to leave; we can't get along." I tell her to do her part and I will do mine and there will be no trouble.

When I wash she puts in a few clothes and does the rest in the bathtub and hangs them around the tub. She tells me she soaked some things and stuck them under the mattress on her bed, and I happened to see them and took them out and that made her mad. If I don't eat at the table when we have company then she begins on me, saying "I wouldn't eat because she was here." She tells me rather-in-law things about me to make him angry at me and sometimes he has pouted also, but not like her.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

JACK'S MOTHER CALLED.
Mrs. Edmunds called this evening and I enjoyed a real tete-a-tete with my future mother-in-law. She is a kindly soul. I'm sure, and simply adores her boy Jack. Until ten I heard more about Jack and his little peculiarities and ambitions (no faults of course) than I have ever heard in all the time I have known him. Mamma Edmunds just confided in me the sweetest way imaginable. I never dreamed she could unbend so much.

Last time I saw her was at ten with several other women present, so I suppose she felt that it was up to her to play up the somewhat disagreeable, but this trip, such a difference!

Among other things she assured me that it wasn't to many young women of the present day she'd rather give up her son to—but I was an exception. Sweet words in my young ear. Jack, it seems, is the apple of her eye. The rest of her household are dear to her, of course, but not quite in the same way as he has always been.

Then Mrs. Edmunds told me how carefully she had brought Jack up, how devoted she had always been, and how he had been petted, adding that she just knew that he was passing on into as tender hands as her own (meaning mine). By this time I was commencing to distinctly resent Jack and his many virtues, but held my tongue. The conversation continued. Once or twice in the middle of some of her most impassioned publicity for her son I was tempted to tell my future mother-in-law that he was making a grave mistake in entrusting him to my care, for I was woefully lacking in the domestic virtues that she considered essential for the wife of her boy to possess, but serious reflection caused me to hold my counsel.

After all, as I reflected, mothers of sons of the same age and time over and always will be. Time not time—nor daughters-in-law—can ever change them. Voila!

After nearly two hours intimate conversation I invited Mrs. Edmunds up to my room to look at my trousseau—or rather some of it. I wisely decided not to bring all the "treasures" on my just now, and arm in arm we ascended the stairs.

She gurgled over my clothes but eyed my set of De-Maupassant through her forgetties. "And aren't there any—any—hand-worked 'pretties' for the bride?" (This with a sweet smile, of course.) They always smile when they spring one of these on you.

"Oh, no, indeed, dear Mrs. Edmunds—I don't sew," says I brutally. "I paint."

Not long afterwards, to be truthful, very rapidly afterwards, Mrs. Edmunds departed and I collapsed. I'm still here, and collapsed. But not quite annihilated yet. It must be my youth that keeps me up! (To be continued.)

RECIPES FOR A DAY
Rice and Pimiento Salad—One cup cooked rice, three tablespoons chopped green pepper, three tablespoons pimiento, mix ingredients and season. Serve on lettuce or cabbage leaf, garnish with strips of pimiento. Serve with mayonnaise or cheese dressing.
Cocoa Recipe—One can condensed milk, two quarts boiling water, and three-quarters cup cocoa. Stir to blend thoroughly. Bring to boil. Cook five minutes and serve.
Casseroles—Dice out one quart of pound of bacon (cut in pieces), add one pound of lean veal, also cut up, and brown in the bacon. Put the meat in a casserole, then add five potatoes which have been cut in small cubes, and on top put one pound of string beans (canned beans can be used in the winter), season with salt and pepper and some onions, if desired. Add two cups of water and bake in oven for one-half hour.

Washington Cream Pie—This dessert never fails to please. It is economical, as it is sufficient to serve six, and no butter or oil is used. One egg well beaten, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon cornstarch dissolved in two tablespoons of cold water, five-eighths cup flour sifted with one teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon vanilla, pinch of salt. Bake in a removable cake pan split and put portions together with the following custard: One egg slightly beaten, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup starch, pinch of salt, one teaspoon vanilla. Pour on one cup scalded milk, return to double boiler and stir until it thickens. Sprinkle powdered sugar on top of cake before serving. It may be made extra fine by serving with whipped cream slightly sweetened and flavored to taste.

HEALTH TALKS

HEART DISEASE

Only exceptional cases of heart disease are characterized by any pain in the region of the heart. As a general rule pains felt on the left side of the chest are due to other causes than heart disease.

Unfortunately there is a popular impression that one with heart disease is likely to die suddenly or at least to die soon. Perhaps this is attributable to newspaper items purporting to account for supposedly sudden or unexpected deaths by ascribing the occurrence to heart failure. Or it may be attributable to a lack of correct knowledge of the facts of heart disease.

The Prohibition Rum Blowsom. Although I am a teetotaler and live in an absolutely dry territory, my nose is trying to ruin my reputation. It is not only dry, but has many little pimples and seems to be getting thicker. Friends call it rum blowsom and say yeast will cure it since there is no beer. Is there anything in it? (E. L.)

ANSWER—Yeast will at least do no harm—you might take one cake of any kind of yeast used for making bread, mix it with any fruit juice, milk or other beverage, after each meal, for four or five weeks. A little lemon may do some good if applied at night and two or three times every day.

Prescription sulphur—one dram powdered camphor—five grains powdered tragacanth—five grains lime water, rose water, of each, 1 oz.

Almost 2,000,000 barrels of oil are lost annually through burning of wells.

The newspapers recently carried a story of the sudden death of a man who had won considerable fame as an expert on internal machines. The cause of the man's sudden death was given in the story as "indigestion." One would suppose that the reporters might know better than that. When a man succumbs to "indigestion," assuming a man has ever succumbed to it, outside of the newspapers, what organ has failed? What is the modus operandi or the modus operandi of "indigestion"? It is absurd to imagine that "indigestion" ever seriously injured anyone. The term is applied by third rate doctors to all sorts of diseases of abdominal and chest organs. It is a kind of slothful, lazy, indifferent way of side-stepping the effort to determine what is really the matter and therefore no physician worthy of confidence or respect ever perpetrates such a pseudo-diagnosis.

The truth about heart disease is that people usually do not die of it, even though they surely have it. They die of incidental infections, like the rest of us. A diseased heart rather causes general inefficiency, and often "indigestion."

Now, according to the custom, numerous readers will read into these remarks something which is not there. They will get the impression that I say "indigestion" is imaginary. I say nothing of the kind. The patient has something quite genuine the matter when he confesses to or is accused of indigestion. I merely say he will bestir himself to find out what really is the matter unless he has no regard for his health. If he is that kind of fellow, then perhaps he will content himself trying some alleged "heart tonic" until he feels convinced that he is "sick enough to have a doctor."

By the way, just how sick should one be in order to require medical advice? I should say one requires medical advice whenever one feels below par.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

One Letter—Many Questions.
Dr. Brady hopes that correspondents who ask numerous questions and desire answers by mail will not object to his practice of jotting brief replies and returning the letter. Thus, the correspondence has reached such proportions that it is physically impossible to write out formal answers to all letters, and the venerable Doctor strives heroically to give his best attention to every inquiry.

BASSFORD DRAWS PRAISE OF BOYS

Faculty of High School Let Undergraduates Score 11 in Second but Come Back Strong in Fifth.

BY FRANK SINCLAIR
Principal Bassford of the high school yesterday demonstrated to the sophomores his right to be at the head of the faculty of the institution. In three trips to the plate in a ball game between the sophs and the pros, won by the former 19 to 8, he drew a base on balls, popped a fly to third and drove out a homer that counted for four of the teachers' runs. Besides he started at third base and then took a crack at pitching.

The game, a five inning affair, was interesting from start to finish. While the sophs had it on the older men in the matter of speed, still they had to work hard to get away with the contest. The faculty sought by many and various means to strengthen their lineup, making numerous shifts of positions and using sophs and pros. Faculty is there.

Admiration for the grit of the instructors, who had not had any practice, was expressed all around. Wright came in for a share of the glory by popping two of the runs. But the man who took many of the cheers was Arbutnot. In his first ball at bat, he clouted the second pitched ball for a two bagger, romping home with the first run on Crabtree's sacrifice hit.

Scoring started in the first inning, when the sophs captured two runs. Young was driven a complimentary pass to first, scoring on a passed ball. The next two men up were fanned by Crabtree, who exhibited a wide out that often broke far of the plate, but at first scared the boys with its speed. Only for a time. Then Don Dawson reached out for a home-run swat. The faculty went down one, two, three in the first.

permitted the undergraduates 13 trips to the plate for a total of 11 runs. Three homers and two three base hits were made in the inning. For the first time in the game, Crabtree circled the bases and sent Roscoe in ahead of him. Casey walked as did Young, both coming in on passed balls. The inning, free ticket and came in on Dawson's homer. C. Clark fanned. Kasmark added another home run followed by a three base hit. Roscoe, who came in on a wild pitch. Eckstein walked. Casey flied out to Bassford, a swift and beautiful catch. Young walked and Sheridan died at first. In the third and fourth innings the sophs made two and three runs and finished in the fifth with another. In the third Crabtree gave out to Bassford but went back in the box in the fifth.

Prof's Rally in Fifth.
A strong rally in the fifth frame gave the profs five chalk marks. They started off with a homer. Arbutnot struck out. Crabtree smashed out a two-bagger but was put out at third. COMPARE BEALE TO VETERAN HAL CHASE

First Sacker of Samsons Playing Wonderful Game—Covering of Bag Remarkable.

George Beale, first sacker for the Samson Tractors, has been likened since Saturday by the fans here to Hal Chase as one of the greatest first basemen in the game. His work over the week-end is the talk of the town and has been carried elsewhere in the enthusiasm.

Fans started to watch Beale in the first game he played here against the Magnets of Chicago. His speedy work and clever covering of the base in that series of three games made him a growing favorite.
